THE ONLY NEWSPAPER In Englewood DELIVERED BY U. S. MAIL CARRIER

ENGLEWOOD SULLIVAN'S TIMES

THE NEWSPAPER THAT HAS SERVED ENGLEWOOD FOR THE PAST 37 YEARS

VOL. XXXVII—No. 32. CHICAGO, FRIDAY, MARCH 21, 1924. $1.00 PER YEAR

THREE REASONS

Why readers of the "Englewood Times" who are thinking of buying a Grand Piano, Player Piano or Upright Piano should visit this store before deciding—

Reason Number 1

Because no piano store in Chicago can sell a better piano than we have to offer.

Reason Number 2

Because our prices on different grades of instruments are lower than can be found in any other store.

Reason Number 3

Because with our "Don't Pay Interest" and "Rebate Payment Plan" customers are continually saving money even from the price we ask that cannot be saved in any other Chicago store.

One Call will convince even the inexperienced buyer of the truthfulness of each of these three reasons.

Democracy—High Rents and the Law

One of the fundamentals of democracy is that everybody is entitled to a certain amount of freedom—free speech, free expression in print, etc. There is no law to make people good, but we have laws that punish evildoers.

Law implies that every citizen shall be free to do wrong, but shall be held responsible for the wrong he does.

Keeping within the law is a common practice.

While in the course of general conversation with one of our prominent business men located on Halsted st. the subject of high rents was brought about. He stated: "Our business of today is not what it should be compared to the money in circulation and the few actually out of employment—and the cause of it all is high rents, both the homes and the stores." He continued by saying: "How many good families are there in our Englewood as well as elsewhere in the city of Chicago, who after paying rent, buying what they need for the table, can actually afford to buy what they need or otherwise would enjoy to improve their personal appearances."

In addition he said: "Does the owner of a store, which was built ten or fifteen years ago, find a legitimate excuse for boosting the rent 50 to 100 percent—also should the apartment owner raise his tenant's rent to such an extent that if he wishes to continue living decently, he is compelled to steal, bootleg or indulge in other forms of dishonesty that he and his family may share the comforts of congenial environments?"

As members of democracy are we not a little bit to blame relative to this business man's honest way of thinking and his honesty of expressions? Should we refer matters of this kind to the BENCH AND BAR or should the people be called upon to take the law in their hands and act according to the majority in defense?

With the exception of a few honest to God apartment owners, in this community, who have raised the rents only a few cents on the dollar, we have 95 percent who are exceeding the high rent speed limit and otherwise imposing a real hardship on the good citizens of Englewood.

However, it is consoling to know that some day, in the near future, if this high rent speed is allowed and not prevented by the people at large, that its death is certain—inasmuch as it will kill itself through its own folly.

Thus we quote again: "Law implies that every citizen shall be free to do wrong, but shall be held responsible for the wrong he does."

Mrs. Glenora Bauer of 519 60th pl., is suffering from a severe cold.

Mrs. Lester Lanyon is improving from an operation she underwent at the Englewood hospital last week.

Mrs. Smith Thomas Ford is still in the Presbyterian hospital and is slowly improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grebner, 714 68th st., are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a little son at their home Sunday morning, March 16.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Schurman celebrated the 27th anniversary of their wedding Tuesday, March 18, and Dr. Schurman says "He is happy though married."

Dr. William McAndrews, the new superintendent of schools, will be the speaker at the evening service of the Englewood Presbyterian church Sunday evening, March 23, at 7:30.

Hotel Apartment For Englewood

Our article of a few weeks ago in the Englewood Times relative to the proposed hotel apartment for central Englewood, has brought us many dozen letters and about twenty personal calls here at our office.

At this writing plans are being carefully considered by a good honest business man who for the past twenty years has been well known in this community. His answer to this call signifies that he is on the job with regard to this project. He has, in fact, had blue prints almost identical with the proposed plan described in our recent Englewood apartment hotel editorial.

This business man proposes to build an apartment hotel containing from 100 to 120 apartments of one and two rooms—the same to be located in central Englewood and to rent at a price of $50 to $60 per month per apartment, unfurnished.

The site is not as yet settled on, but within a week or two the plans and location will be announced.

The Fellowship and Convocation Sunday at the Englewood Baptist church was one day never to be forgotten in the memory of those who were fortunate enough to have been able to attend. From the perfect day with sunshine and gentle breezes outside one was greeted by a spirit of kindly welcome from the people, the beautifully arranged pink tulips, pink hyacinths and ferns, the varied music and the inspiring sermon by the pastor, Dr. Charles A. Brooks. Everything seemed to reach out its arms in entreaty to accept the sincere welcome extended and to acknowledge the "Supremacy of the Spiritual."

Anticipation of Your Desire

To serve only when and how requested is but to half serve. True service lies in doing that which should be done before the wish is fully formed. But it takes years of service and careful observation and study before this can be done.

Anticipatory service is one of the features of our work: we have learned this delicate art during the many years it has been our privilege to serve.

Our Weekly Poem

RAIN MUSIC

By Garnett Laidlaw Eskew

I like to hear the clatter of the rain upon the roof.
The rushing, dashing squadrons of the wild spring rain,
And I seem to hear the quick staccato beat of many a hoof
As when horsemen thunder out across a wind-swept plain.

I sit and smoke and listen to the music overhead,
To the vibrant helter-skelter as
the gusts drive fast;
And my dreams are all of wonders
of a century that's dead,
Of an ample time and stately in the years long past.

There's a merry sort of music in rain upon the shingles,
A lilting, chiming melody of old,
queer things—
Half forgotten little rimes and unremembered jingles, Tales of tall adventurings and kind old kings.

Tales of freighted galleons and schooners long and slender, Breasting out to windward on an unmarked sea;
Gray, beleagured castles, maidens
terrified and tender:—
Ah, the gallant, olden stories that were life to me!

But the music, ah, the music in the sullen thud and thunder
Of the fall rain at the casement
—ceasing—coming yet again!
Are there fingers clawing entrance to the cheery room, I wonder?
at the hard bright pane?
Ghostly fingers craving entrance

Sorry You Wrote It?

If you mail a letter and then wish you had not, you can get it back. To those who have spent sleepless nights worrying about the letter mailed and regretted, the postoffice furnishes a formula of procedure if it ever happens again.

Don't worry in the future, says Postmaster General Work, who took occasion to inform the public of regulations to cover such occasions.

"All you have to do," says a postoffice department statement, "is to go to your local postmaster and explain to him that you want to withdraw your letter from the mails. The postmaster must comply with your request, provided you can furnish proof that you are the sender of the missive. These proofs consist of giving an accurate description of the letter you wish to get back, as well as presenting a sample of your handwriting.

"The rules also permit postmasters to telegraph to the railway mail clerk and get him to take a recalled letter out of the mail pouch after it has left the city. This measure is taken, however, only in extreme emergencies."

Would Water Meters Be An Economy?

With the 600 miles of good old Lake Michigan at our very door, it does seem as if we should be at least financially able to pump some of this water to our people, without any complicated measuring of the amounts. The installing of water meters means an expenditure of millions of dollars, and their installation will not prevent the loss from leakages under ground that is complained of. The city has just fathered the loss of a million dollars paid out for voting machines a few years ago, that were never used, but some one wanted to sell the city some machinery and did so. A careful readjustment of water rates, even the old frontage system would add a million to the water bureau receipts. Let the survey take in many of the apartment buildings who are still paying water rates simply on a frontage basis, the same as when the lot was occupied by an humble cottage, and let some of the hundreds of water department employees do a little work of investigating wastage and see that the rates are equalized, it would be well to compel the use of meters for all large buildings, apartments, and mercantile institutions where an unusual amount of water is used, but it would look like an injustice to compel the small home owner to install an expensive meter. If it is found that the resent rate is too low, raise the rates on frontage for homes, and see that a just rate is charged for all uses of water, and do it honestly and equitably, but do nothing to restrict a proper use of it. It might be well to regulate the waste in parks and public places where fountains and sprinklers are allowed to remain open all hours of the day and night. We have seen millions of gallons wasted by immense sprinkling systems kept running even during heavy rains, and we know that continuous flow is allowed in many cases unnecessarily. Leakage in the mains is easily discovered and the force in the water department is amply able to take care of them, if they put in an honest day's work occasionally, but don't saddle the small home owner with the unnecessary expense of meters.

Lower Taxes and Bonus Can Both Be Secured

By H. J. C.

Those people who contend that we cannot have a reduction in the income tax and a Federal bonus providing for an annual expenditure of only one-fourth the present treasury surplus per year, are either misinformed or insincere.

Who are the individuals who are clamoring against the bonus? The answer can quickly be given. The war contractors, the profiteers in general and those misguided individuals who fail to think for themselves, are in the main, the opponents of the bonus.

Adjusted compensation was pledged by leading men of both the larger parties in 1920 and the ex-service men will observe just what takes place during the present session of congress.

The bonus should be paid. It is a great moral obligation which cannot be evaded.

Employees Become Stockholders

While there has been agitation for public ownership of various branches of industry it has remained for our great public utilities such as electric light, street railway, telephone and gas companies to lead the way in establishing real public ownership by selling their stocks and bonds to their employes and customers.

The Commonwealth Edison Co., of Chicago shows 9 out of every 10 of its 7300 employes as stockholders.

The Public Service Company of Northern Illinois with 2500 employes records 1889 (75 per cent) as shareholders.

The Central Illinois Public Service Co., which serves 198 cities and towns with electricity and gas, shows 97 per cent of its employes either owning or buying stock.

Customer ownership of stock has increased as rapidly as employe ownership and the Commonwealth Edison Co. shows 35,000 shareholders, the Public Service Co. of Northern Illinois, 16,300 and the Central Illinois Co. 10,184.

This constitutes real public ownership, for the people served and the workmen of the company are the owners.

Tips For Taxpayers

When, by reason of illness or absence from home, additional time for filing an income-tax return is required, the taxpayer should address to the collector of internal revenue for the district in which he lives a request for an extension. This request must be mailed before the return is due, March 15, 1924.

The collector may grant an extension of not exceeding 30 days. As a condition for granting such an extension the collector may require on or before March 15 the filing of a tentative return. A tentative return should be made on the usual form, marked "Tentative," and should contain a sworn statement of the estimated amount of tax due.

If before the end of a 30-day extension an accurate return cannot be made, appeal for a further extension must be made to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington, D. C., together with a full recital of the causes for the delay. The commissioner will not grant an additional extension without a clear showing that a complete return cannot be made within the 30-day period.

Tips for Taxpayers

In the making of his 1923 income tax return the business man, professional man, and farmer may deduct from gross income all items properly attributable to business expenses. In the case of a storekeeper they include amounts spent for rent of his place of business, advertising, premiums for insurance against fire or other losses, the cost of water, light, and heat used in his place of business, drayage and freight bills, the cost of repairs and maintenance to delivery wagons and trucks, and a reasonable allowance for salaries of employees. A professional man, lawyer, doctor, or dentist may deduct the cost of supplies used in his profession, expenses paid in the operation and repair of an automobile used in making professional alls, dues to professional societies, subscriptions to professional journals, office rent, cost of light, heat and water used in his office, and the hire of office assistants.

Deneen For U. S. Senator On His Merits

At a meeting held in Dupage county, ex-Governor Charles S. Deneen stated in part—"That in announcing my candidacy for United States Senator, I do so strictly on the merits of this high office."

That statement from Mr. Deneen speaks a volume, inasmuch as he has at all times been a true friend and political servant to the people of Illinois.

He said: "The primary law of this state, with the enactment of which I had much to do, was enacted for the purpose of permitting candidates to appeal directly to the voters or through the aid of groups or factions, permitting the voter in each party to make his choice of candidates in secret at the ballot box, regardless of groups or factions at the polling booths."

Ex-Governor Deneen is a Chicago man—not only that, but he is a resident of Englewood and our neighbor, and has always been in favor and in sympathy with every worth-while movement for the betterment of Englewood. He deserves the support of every voter in Englewood especially.

Transportation of the Future

"What's the use of building great highway systems, at an expense of millions and millions of dollars, when in a few short years all the freight and passenger traffic will be carried in the air?"

The question is always being asked by some one, usually some one who is unendowed by nature with faculty of thinking straight, but sometimes by those who think, but without data on which to go.

The next ten, or the next hundred years, will see enormous strides made in aviation. Mail, some express, some passenger traffic will go via plane, and much sport and travel will use it. But no future development of aeronautics can overcome the fundamental fact of nature, that to raise a weight in the air and maintain it there, requires power, and that power is an equivalent for value; in our terms, money.

Therefore, no matter how desirable otherwise, no system of transportation which requires an expenditure to support a weight, can compete in cheapness with those in which the weight is borne by the earth.

There will always be railroads, always be vessels on the water, always be roads and road vehicles. They will change, improve, become more economical, more speedy, more safe, but the earth will continue to carry the bulk of the traffic, simply and solely because it doesn't charge anything for holding up the weight, whereas nature makes us pay, and heavily, to hold the weight up in the air, while we transport it.

Those who build roads to-day will not live to see the time when their roads are not used. Those who bond themselves for roads to-day will never see the day when those bonds are outstanding against disused highways. The airways will be increasingly used, but not for freight.

Englewood's Best Crop

While there may be other parts of the city that excel us in the erection of large buildings, even in more magnificent homes, stately architecture, and also in manufacturing plants, we have one feature that makes us proud and that is the number of baby perambulators seen on our street on any fair day, and the pretty proud mother's who propel them. An eastern friend visiting us some weeks ago remarked on this fact and we counted eighteen brand new babies taking an airing in one block. After all, the wealth o a nation or a city is in its yo and the immortal "Teddy" T velt with his urge of respectable families did more to encourage the true prosperity of our fair land in that idea, than many have in written volumes. Someway we feel when a great man passes away leaving no descendants that his life has been a failure, at least to that extent that none will perpetuate his name, or inherit his good qualities. The failure of Washington to leave direct descendants was almost a national calamity, and the proud scions of the Adams families are still prominent in the nation's history. In Englewood at least, it is not fashionable to be without a family, and our cosmopolitan population makes for a good healthy progeny, that are growing up to take their places in many fields of usefulness and endeavor. The saddest scene one may witness is that of a man or woman grown old without a family surrounding them. They are desolate indeed and pass away among strangers, "unwept, unhonored and unsung." It may sound very modern and intellectual to talk of birth control and limiting families, but the laws of nature, and of God will always smile on the happy household where there are many children. In these days where such splendid schools are provided, even from the kindergarten ages, and school attendance compulsory, there can be small doubt that no matter how numerous they may be, every native born American child will be sure of its opportunities and given a fair chance to become a useful citizen. Rah for the babies.

A California Forest Fire

Through Antelope Valley and Across the Mojave Desert; Great Pear Orchards and an Oil Well Fire

I write this with the fire of the flames and the pungent smell of the burning mountain brush and trees, still about me. Whoever is running affairs in California must have heard that I was here to see everything, so a real first class forest fire has been pulled off, and fo several days the mountains north of Santa Barbara have been swept by the flames. It was a fearful but gorgeous sight to see the flames start in a small patch, and in a few moments advance by leaps and bounds up the hills, across the canyons, and up to the very tops of the mountains, sweeping all before them. The regular force of government and state fire fighters, although doing heroic work in "back firing," excavating, plowing large gaps, and using water when obtainable, were helpless at every change of the wind, which the very force and heat of the flames created. At night the flames had extended in Cold Springs canyon, back of Montecito up to the most fashionable residence district of this part of the state. The LaPaz hotel was burned, and the flames extended acres the way to the beautiful home of Lolita Armour Mitchell, which was partially saved, as also was the handsome Eaton estates, but many more were swept away like tinder. It was an interesting experience, and was the first forest fire at this time of year ever known in Santa Barbara county, and rather took the fire guards and residen by surprise. I was glad to see it as it was to occur, but do not care to see another.

The Mission at Santa Barbara was founded by Padre Junipero Serra, December 4, 1786, and is the best preserved of any. It is a beautiful large estate of several hundred acres, most of the Mission buildings are gone but the church and its store of relics and antiquities are retained and shown with some pride by good Father Michael, whom I had the pleasure to meet and talk with for some time as I visited the old bell tower, and the cemetery where thousands of the Indian converts to Christianity were buried with their teachers, as well as some of the old Don's who then ruled this country. The Fathers conduct a large school well attended, and many of the dusky descendants of the first converts are still their pupils. This is also true of San Buenaventura at the town of Ventura. Here the church has been restored and is in constant use, and a beautiful new and modern school erected for their charges. It was founded March 31, 1782, and is now the center of a wonderfully fruitful valley.

Santa Barbara is a modern built city but retains all of the Spanish characteristics of the Mission days in its beautiful buildings and gardens. While here I received a warm greeting from Mr. and Mrs. James E. Murray, the latter of whom was Mary McGinty, daughter of the late Professor John E. McGinty of Normal blvd. Mr. Murray has a very prosperous business, and a beautiful home on Castillo st., shared by their five pretty children. There was bathing in the beautiful beach and we had a fine view of the pretty islands off the coast known as the Santa Barbara Islands, and occupied by ranches and groves. We went high above the Mission and were asked to enter Rattlesnake Canyon, but as Ed. Frantz had failed to supply me with the sure fire snake bite preventitive, I left the snake neighborhood to Dr. Charles Leake, one of our Chicago companions.

The oil fields here and south extend to the ocean, and even in the ocean as many wells are producing well along the beaches and rocks many rods out in the surf. Nature surely has favored this land, as every acre is tillable and yields immense profits in both fruit and walnut culture, and there is more wealth being taken from the oil wells than ever from the gold mines in the so called "good old days of '49." The irrigation system is perfect and water rates very reasonable so that the farmers and ranchers are all making good money, while the chicken rancher has a perpetual harvest. It is a healthy country as I saw but one small cemetery in a drive of over 100 miles. Thousands of eastern people are flocking in and many are taking up this occupation. It seems easy to raise everything but a disturbance, and there is good and convenient markets for all they can raise. The old days of the easy going Spaniards has passed, and the American ideas of push and improvement is making this a veritable paradise. Good hard roads, paved as smooth as any boulevard run in every direction and are well maintained and are mostly from 50 to 100 feet wide, none of the stingy scrimping I remember on Illinois. Small-built cow paths. I am sold as to California roads and climate.

Have just returned from another cross country trip that was very enjoyable and in entirely new territory. We went out through Hollywood to the Cahunga canyon, out through San Fernando into the valley of the same name, out to Saugus and up into the mountains clear up over the ridge to Libre Point, about 5,000 feet up. The wonderful trail leads up and around, in many places cut out of solid granite for miles. It has more twists and turns than the tea-pot oil can, and every few rods a new scene bursts on one's sight. On one side will be the massive mountains towering up thousands of feet, while on the other you may look down as many feet into the deep canyons. Just now most of the higher points are brown for lack of water, as they have had no rain for months, but farther north and down one sees the most verdant trees and vegetation. The beautiful Yucca plants are beginning to fill and bloom, and they present a pretty sight. We crossed over the summit and descended by Tehun pass almost to the level, and then took the unpaved road through Antelope Valley. It is smooth and almost level, except where heavy washouts from the mountain torrents have made deep gashes in the sandy soil. This is the home of the Bartlett pear and two thirds of that species of fruits that are raised in the world, are raised in this valley. The trees are now in bloom and present unbroken miles of orchards with varied colored blossoms, from a very deep pink to a pale lilac. We crossed on for thirty miles of this, only varied by cattle ranches and some wainut groves, until we came to the "Joshua Tree" barrenness. The "Joshua Tree" is a very large species of cactus, growing in fantastic shapes as high as twenty feet, with a body as large as a man's, and branching off in irregular stems that are covered with a beautiful growth of heavy sharp leaves that terminate in a large bulb as large as a man's hand, and this in turn blossoms into a beautiful yellow flower. Many are now in bloom and they are highly prized. From here we journey south, sometimes at the rate of forty-five miles, over this wild unpaved road, until we enter the Mojave Desert. Here the hot sands and the everlasting hot winds made us seek the shade of our car and hunt the canteen. We crossed directly into the Leona Valley, one of the most beautiful in California. We soon met with large fruit orchards, pear, olive, even peaches and lemons as well as many well stocked cattle farms and apiaries. Whereas we had traveled almost along the crest of the mountains, we now sought the lower valley and soon entered the bouquet canyon, which is only at an altitude of 3,000 feet, but we followed it down between the highest mountain peaks to sea level. In places it is scarcely a dozen feet wide and in others spreads out over acres, but notwithstanding the severe drouth, in the center of this crevice, a beautiful little stream of the clearest and coolest water flows down the canyon over its fifteen miles in length and is crossed half a hundred times by the trail. The immense granite walls on either side overtower high trees and even mountain cabins which are built on its sides. While it is very warm in the valley, a delightful breeze from the west sweeps down the canyon and makes it pleasant driving. We came out in the lower end of Leona Valley and crossed over to the Southern Pacific railroad, where we struck a well paved road through to San Fernanda and home. I know how deficient any description of mine must sound, but the scenery, its grandeur and its mightiness impresses one so much that they find their most eloquent words tame and lifeless. I only wish every one of my readers might see it with me, and they would understand.

It seems as if California is rather "showing off" during my stay, and has shown me a sample of about everything they have in store. An awesome sight I witnessed this week was an oil fire at Signal Hill, the richest oil field in the world. Four large storage tanks and well mouths were on fire at one time and the volume of smoke arising was an immense conical pillar reaching miles high in the sky, with sullen looking flames creeping through it. It took half a day to extinguish the fire, which was done by blowing up with dynamite and explosives that acted as an immense extinguisher, taking the necessary air away, and without the air there could be no combustion. One would think I had seen the whole bag of tricks by this time when a brother Kiwanian called me up this morning to go over to Glendale to witness the effects of the storm and the flooded water sweeping down from the mountains. The heavy rains almost reached the proportions of a cloud burst, and sent a wall of water down the foot hills in the Glendale-Eagle Rock and Glassell Park districts that forced residents to flee their homes, wrecking the light built houses, and damaging many others. Many automobiles were stalled in the streets and street car traffic was impeded by the road bed being washed away. Thunder, lightning and even snow were freak features of the storm, but the bright sunshine has returned now and the inch of rain that fell was of great benefit to the crops and the water supply of the entire state.

Hartman Furniture Buys Site; To Build

The Hartman Furniture and Carpet company has purchased the business property at 815 W. 63rd st., 25x125, to enlarge their present store at 819 W. 63rd st. An indicated $109,000 was paid to Jeanette Rose and others for the property.

Some time ago the Hartman people bought the 25x125 feet at No. 817 adjoining their store at 819 63rd st. and they now own the entire block between Green st. and the alley on 63rd. The present buildings on the fifty foot frontage are to be razed and a new four-story furniture store is to be erected. Work is expected to start some time in the spring.

The Hartman Furniture and Carpet company entered the Englewood district in November 1921 when the Phillips Bros. and Weil Furniture companies were bought out.

Voters of 3rd Congressional District

My Dear Friend and Constituent:

You have probably seen in the press an announcement of my candidacy for renomination to succeed myself as representative of the third Illinois district in congress. The purpose of this letter is to bring this fact to your attention, as it is impossible for me to make a personal canvass of the district owing to the pressure of official business which requires my constant attendance on the sessions of congress.

Most important legislation is pending and owing to the slight majority we have in congress every vote is of the utmost importance.

We seek to enact legislation to reduce taxes. I am in favor of the Mellon plan, and shall continue to give it my undivided support. We must enact a new immigration law, as the law placed on the statute books during the 67th Congress is about to expire. It was this law which prevented an influx of undesirables from Europe and thus saved to the

Elliott W. Sproul

American working man his chance to labor at a wage which allowed him to support himself and family on the high plane of American living.

All the great supply bills providing the means to run our government are pending and must be enacted into law. These, and other measures too numerous to mention, but of the greatest importance to the welfare of the country, must be discussed and shaped into law. Therefore, I do not consider I would be doing my full duty if I should leave here at this time to conduct a campaign for myself in the district. You did me the honor to elect me to represent you in the 67th Congress, and re-elected me to the 68th Congress. I gave to this honorable commission my entire time and attention. I feel justly proud of the record I made for attendance at the sessions of the House and the meetings of the committees to which I was assigned.

If you are satisfied with my record, and believe it to be to the best interests of the district to return me to Congress, I shall certainly appreciate your support, and that of your friends, and be assured I am at all times pleased to serve them.

With kindest regards, I am,

Very truly yours,

ELLIOTT W. SPROUL.

Greater preparations than usual are being made for the Drama Tea to be given by the members of the Hamilton Park Woman's club on Friday afternoon, March 21. The Board of Directors of the Hamilton Park Woman's club were entertained at the home of Mrs. Hugh A. Parks on Friday, March 7. A most delicious luncheon was served and the dainty floral decorations all about added greatly to the spirit of the occasion. For it was not just a board meeting, but an opportunity to make known the joy and privilege it has been to work with the much loved and most faithful president, Mrs. Otto Sjostrom. A wrist watch was the token of love and admiration and was presented by the vice-president, Mrs. L. B. Naylor.

Mrs. Sjostrom has been a wonderful president. Her sterling qualities of fairness and justice, her sweet personality, her strength of character, her ambitions to make the Hamilton Park Woman's club a real influence for good in the community has endeared her to all. But it was her kindness that caused her regime to be marked with harmony, and it has been said that simple kindness is the brightest jewel in the crown of character.

The Business Man That "Knocks"

The "knocker" in business is of two kinds, the one more despicable than the other. The one "knocks" the locality in which he is doing business, and broadcasts his woes upon the slightest provocation. The people are all wrong, and he is absolutely right, and if the people would only do as he says, the country and the locality would be all right. He cites other localities as more prosperous and better places to live and strangely does not make any effort to move to these places although there are no strings tied to him to bind him to his home place. These chaps are no good to a community or themselves and the sooner a locality is rid of them the better it is off. Yes, we have some of those (bananas) today, but fortunately they are few. The other fellow is simply envious and greedy and only "knocks" his competitors and to every one willing to listen will fill their ears with wonderful tales of the depravity and swindling methods of his competitors and of his own unswerving honesty and integrity. This poor boob does not realize that he is advertising the other man and injuring himself and making himself so unpopular that the average person does not care to meet him or do business with him. The self righteous man may convince himself of the fact, but he never convinces anyone else. It is a mighty good policy to devote oneself to improving their own business irrespective of the other fellow, and if the locality in which you live does not suit you, move away from it and please yourself and the entire community.

2 Widows Buy Property to be Improved for Sale

A subdivision promoted through the instigation of two widows, reputed to be extremely wealthy and to enjoy the game of speculation, with just nominal profits as the reward, adds another oddity to Miami's already long list of widely diversified investment propositions. This new real estate project is called Bryandale, and is located on the Tamiami Trail, running four blocks north of it along S. W. Twenty-second ave. Mary Herrie and Kathryn M. Haskell, now living at the Royal Palm apartments on Brickell ave., and both summer residents of Chicago, are the owners of this new sub-division.

Both these ladies conceived the possibility of investment in this property and purchased it for resale. At the present time Bryandale is under-going a preparatory alteration, there being under construction public services, including streets and sidewalks. The two ladies have given the selling end of their proposition over to a company which is to have offices right on the ground and will operate under the name of the Bryandale Investment company. Incidentally, Kenneth C. Hawkins, of Chicago, will act as sales manager. The new subdivision will offer lots said to be comparatively less than the average with the same recommendations and they will be sold on easy terms. Business lots are to be sold at approximately $1,700, and large residence lots at about $1,500. Bryandale is located about two and one-half miles from the post office. —From the Miami, Fla., Courier.

Highways Create and Extend Patriotism

The George Washington Masonic Memorial, being erected to Washington the Mason, by the Master Masons of the United States, on Shooter's Hill, just outside the city of Alexandria, in Virginia, and half way between the city which bears the first president's name and the tomb in which his remains lie at rest, is not upon a national road.

The home and tomb of Washington, at Mt. Vernon, is not reached from anywhere by a national road.

There must inevitably come a time when this nation will rise in revolt against a penurious policy which leaves to a patriotic order of devoted women the care and preservation of the priceless relics of Washington, which are in his estate, and make of Mt. Vernon what it ought to be, a government charge and care. The Masonic fraternity has already provided for a monumental resting place for the Masonic relics of George Washington. But will we always leave to Virginia the making, the repairing, and the preservation of the roads which connect these three—home, temple, and city?

Virginia has not, so far, been able to list herself among those states prominently identified with the good-roads movement, although she has made vast strides in recent years. The road from Washington to the temple, and from Alexandria to Mt. Vernon is a good road, but it should be the work of the United States government to see that so important a road is perfect. In this is seen another among many arguments as to why this great nation should itself build and forever maintain the backbone roads which, as National Highways, will serve all the people all the time.

SULLIVAN'S SMILE AND WONDER

THE MAID FROM PERU

There was an old maid from Peru,
Who thirty-two languages knew;
If she worked all these tongues,
With but one pair of lungs,
I don't wonder she's single. Do you?

Other men besides ministers marry for money.

The wise man and the fool's money are soon united.

Few women realize how beautiful some other women are.

Before giving advice, a wise man prefers to define the consequences.

Charity for revenue only is a mistake.

The poet is born, but the Pat has to acquire his art.

After marriage a girl quits making tea and learns to make good coffee.

When a man gets down to the financial scrap he is apt to have a lot of wreckage floating around.

Lots of men suddenly become near sighted when they start out to look for work.

Life is what we make it, is an old and true saying, but it looks as if the trust will be making it for us after awhile and charging high prices for it at that.

During the recent very hot spell, Casey told me: "Shure I wanted to take off me clothes. Yis begarry Oi wanted to strip off me flesh and sit in me bones."

Student—There must be some mistake in my examination marking. I don't think I deserve an absolute zero. Inspector, neither do I; but it is the lowest mark I am allowed to give.

Speaking of a certain man who had recently been detected in a defalcation that not only ruined but disgraced him, some one remarked: "Well, he always was a bad egg, but nobody seemed to notice it while he was rich," which led Casey to remark: "Thrue for yez, he wor awi roight until he wor broke."

"Seems to me you ought to be out looking after your best girl on Sunday afternoon," the visitor addressed the young man. The young man in question looked at his watch. "Plenty of time yet," he answered, "it's only 2 o'clock now. I never go to see 'em until about 7." "Pretty late, it seems to me," remarked the visitor. "Well, you see, it used to be when you went to see a girl and take her riding Sunday afternoon, she used to say: 'Well, you come on up to our house to eat.' Now when supper time rolls around, they say, 'Well, where are you going to take me to eat today?'"

Two colored men were working for a white boss and thought that he was working them overtime. After much discussion they decided to buy a watch between them and keep track of the boss. As neither one of the men could read the time, they would not let the other know this fact, and the very first noon time Erastus thought it was a remarkably long morning, and with great ostentation drew the partnership watch from his pocket, and looking at it solemnly a moment, held it up to the gaze of his companion and said, "That it am," who equally solemnly remarked, "Yoh suh, durred it ain't." Not neither exposed his ignorance to the other.

11th Hour Scout Drive Parade

In uniform and with banners flying, 2,000 Boy Scouts will parade through the Southwest district the afternoon of Saturday, March 29, just preceding the "zero hour" when, through the efforts of a large corps of workers, it is expected to raise the balance of the $15,000 that is Southwest district's quota in the city-wide campaign to finance Scout work in 1924.

Forming at 79th and Green sts., at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, the boys will march up Halsted st. to 63rd, thence west to Ashland ave., where they will disband.

Heading the parade, and at intervals in the line of march, will be the Ashland Park Lions Club band, and Boy Scout bands. Efforts are being made to secure the Lindblom, Englewood and Parker bands for the occasion as well. There will be floats, the exact nature of which has not yet been announced.

The highly developed organization for securing funds in the Boy Scout drive in the Southwest district received favorable comment from leaders in Scout work at a meeting of the executive council at the Hamilton club Thursday evening.

The plan of the organization was explained to the council by Thomas Whitehead, one of the twenty-six business men in the district who have accepted the responsibility of captaining the Boy Scout drive workers among various churches, associations and clubs in the district. At the close of his talk Howard F. Gillette, president of the council, and LeRoy T. Steward, Scout commissioner, both expressed their faith in the ability of the Southwest district to reach their quota of $15,000.

Barrett Wendell, jr., chairman of the financial committee of the Chicago council, read the standings of the various districts in the drive.

"The South Shore district with a total of $11,472.42 leads the outlying districts.

Mrs. Pearl Harris Passes Away

Mrs. Pearl Harris of 5952 Aberdeen passed away at the Contagious Disease hospital last Tuesday night at 12:20. She had been taken there thinking she was suffering from diphtheria. But an examination proved this was not true. All arrangements had been made to take her home on the following day, but that night she had a sinking spell and passed away. The services were conducted at the Drexel Park Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon. She was a member of this church and her pastor, Rev. Clinton C. Cox, had charge of the service. Mrs. Catherine Utesch was the soloist and Mrs. H. H. Seacrist had charge of the organ. She was a member of Onward Chapter, O. E. S., and a charter member of the Lily Bell lodge of Rebecca. William McAndrew, Speaker at 1st Presbyterian Church of Englewood

The series of special Sunday Evening Services at the First Presbyterian church of Englewood, 61th st. and Yale ave., will continue through the month of April. Next Sunday evening, March 23, at 7:30, William McAndrew, superintendent of Chicago schools, will make, so far as we know, his first public address since becoming superintendent of the city schools. His subject will be "Mentality and Manhood."

Superintendent McAndrew first entered the Chicago school system when he became a teacher in the Hyde Park High School in 1887. Two years later, 1889, upon the death of Principal W. H. McRay, he became head of the Hyde Park High School. He served as principal there for two years, then entered the railroad business. He re-entered professional life when he became principal of a large school for girls in Brooklyn, N. Y. Later he became principal of the Washington Irving High School, New York City. While here his work attracted so much attention that he was promoted to the position of Assistant Superintendent of the City Schools of New York City. He was holding this position when selected by the Board of Education of Chicago to be the head of the city schools.

For many years Superintendent McAndrew has been much in demand as a speaker on educational and related subjects. He is also a prolific writer. At present he is writing a series of articles in the World's Work which is attracting a great deal of attention.

The Following Is from G. E. Sullivan from Los Angeles

Co-operative Apartment Building

There are many such buildings in Los Angeles and other parts of California, and they are proving very satisfactory, and profitable to the owners. We have visited several and find that people of even moderate means have nice apartments at much lower cost than if they rented and the terms are made so that they pay for them the same as rent, after the first payment is made. Here they have light, gas, water, heat and refrigeration service, and "maid service" in groups if desired. A good restaurant as well as a cafeteria is provided and are run in the interests of the owners, and do much to pay the expenses. A neat reception parlor is provided on each floor as well as a larger assembly room for public gatherings of all sorts. Englewood should have one and there are enough tenants in the apartments to take stock enough to start the movement, and it will surely be filled after it is once occupied. The size of the apartments here are from single room with bath and kitchenette to suites of six rooms, as the tenant may desire. Ruth Roland, the actress, has just completed a large one on her extensive property, and a twelve story one is being erected close to the business center. Many of the singles are occupied as bachelor quarters for men and women. Inquiry in reliable quarters prove that every co-operative apartment building erected here has been profitable and a success.—G. E. S.

850 Boosters at Banquet

Eight hundred fifty were served at the banquet, there were over 1,000 in the hall, and it was estimated that between 250 and 350 were turned away at the door when, Wednesday evening, March 12, the South Side Business Men's club gave a testimonial banquet to Charles S. Deneen at the South Side Masonic temple.

William G. Tegtmeier, president of the club, presided as chairman and Mr. Deneen was introduced by Harry M. Englestein. The latter quoted Judge Michael McKinlay as saying, at the recent Garrick theater mass meeting, that Mr. Deneen was the "best state's attorney Cook County has ever had."

Other speakers at the affair included Edward Litzinger, Judge Harry Olson, Judge George B. Holmes, Judge Frank P. Sadler, and Harry Mapp.

We Stand Corrected

In our last issue the following announcement was, by error, inserted in one of our regular advertiser's ad which should have gone into the classified section of our paper: "Store for rent for a live merchant. 6709 S. Halsted st. Apply two doors south. Phone Englewood 0120."

Alexander Washington Jackson, a pillar of the colored church, was entertaining the pastor, and also some of the prominent members of the church at dinner. After grace, Alexander began carving the chicken, and the pastor became facetious. "Brudder Jackson," he said smilingly, "do the white folks around hyun keep chickens." As Alexander pried loose the second wing, he replied, "No suh, parson; but dey suttainly tries to."
